MOVO's Fast Payment Solution Meets Fast Cars at FuelFest Featuring Live Music and Celebrities

Mobile Payments App, MOVO, is the Official Stage Sponsor for the Festival, Benefiting Reach Out Worldwide (ROWW) in Honor of Late Actor Paul Walker

LOS ANGELES – Feb.27, 2019 – MOVO[®], a mobile payments platform and app, today announced it will be the official stage sponsor at FuelFest, an automotive event and experience featuring world class cars and live music performances, including local Southern California talent, Tom Solis. The event will benefit Reach Out WorldWide (ROWW), a non-profit organization founded by the late Paul Walker that helps deploy first-responders and humanitarian assistance in the wake of natural disasters to accelerate relief efforts.

Hosted by Cody Walker, brother of “Fast and the Furious” actor Paul Walker, Tyrese Gibson, and Alex Hirschi AKA Supercar Blondie, Angels Stadium in Anaheim, Calif. will serve as the backdrop of the event, paying homage to the beloved movie franchise’s roots. FuelFest will be held on March 2, 2019 offering attendees unparalleled access to unique and exotic automobile collections, as well as the opportunity to meet their favorite stars, while benefiting a good cause.

Participating in FuelFest for the second consecutive year, Southern California-based company MovoCash, Inc. is the creator of the MOVO[®] app, which enables consumers to instantly send and spend funds. The app was founded as an alternative banking solution facilitating instant payments and peer-to-peer (P2P) transactions through blockchain technology. MOVO users can spend instantly from their smartphones with no fees.

“MovoCash was created to replace debit and prepaid cards with real digital money for fast and safe transactions, while offering a cashless solution to our users who are always on the go” said Eric Solis, founder and chief executive officer of MOVO. “We are thrilled to be involved with FuelFest and its community supporting local talent, while also offering an easy way for festival guests to enjoy the full experience without worrying about cash.”
